SCALAR

What have you been waiting for? It is YOUR life to LIVE!!! Not anyone else's!!!

Oh, the days; how they come and go! Everything that goes around, comes around. Easy come; easy go. One wins some, and they lose some. The past six months have been incredibly intensive. A lot of losses in my life, such as the loss of our grandmother (father's mother) have led to a lot of difficulty and strife. I am sorry that we found out very late: the higher bodies, given free will, acting together inside, may contribute their languages to the mix. They may interact instead of just being coached. The bodies inside of us were shutdown by our enemies, which should explain why I did not think that they did speak. They may. Make sure you know that you are you before you begin to believe you have four personalities in you, vying for attention and time to do things, through your physical/carnal body!

This does not automatically mean that you should trust that you have all four bodies. I am not able to tell you, even in the higher planes, if you visited me, if you have this-or-that higher-being-body. I could be wrong, which would cause you so much suffering, or I could be swamped with so many requests that I would be doing nothing else! It is also the same with magic, in that, most methods, powers, and abilities spread themselves thin when spread amongst many people or many actions from them.

The thing to remember is solidarity. Another thing to remember is the equipage. The horse-drawn carriage is the best metaphor for understanding and developing in the Gurdjieff work.

This SCALAR however, is going to be discussing major topics, different from The Realm, Subgenius, Gurdjieff, and Ram Dass; although, they too, will present some material from time to time. It will focus on "dia" : dialectics (education by leading through questions), diatonics (the knowledge of the enneagram and octaves; ratios), dianetics (the modern science of mental health by L. Ron Hubbard), diagrams (even more pictures and graphics about inner self-development—mostly new ones, as well), and a little more education about programming and mathematics.

It is most wise to remember that as of 1:48 AM on this date, 6,330,572 deaths in the entire world have happened due to coronavirus, the virus which originated in China somewhere in the province of Wuhan. We must remain vigilant against the COVID-19 which started in December, 2019. It has been learned or promulgated recently that smoking was not as much of a pre-existing condition, after all: it increases the defense against it. This much death from something that must be related to the incurable "cold" — influenza. It seems that it may relate to heat and also strange colors. Additionally, it may refer to magic on someone else, to pretend to see or hear them or through them.

Espionage is on the downturn. Spies spying on spies spying on spies leads to less new information than reading, writing, and working it out on one's own. One must remember that someone else's body is their sacred space, and one should not enter into that body without explicit permission each time. If it is refused, one should either give up or wait for another time in the future.

Try to remember there are many reasons one might wear a mask: but especially in public places, doctor's offices, crowds of people — anywhere you might feel that some people may be sick. If you get sick, try to self-quarantine. Attempt to distant, politely, from others—in the psychic (or higher planes), too.
